The editors of Academy of Management Learning & Education (AMLE) invite applications for a Paper Development Workshop (PDW) connected to a Special Issue in AMLE.

The workshop will be hosted by the Department of Management, College of Management, University of Massachusetts Boston, USA on March 1, 2019.

There will be two other paper development workshops for this Special Issue: January 23, 2019 at the University of Liverpool, UK; and May 9-10, 2019 at Copenhagen Business School, Denmark.

There will be introductory presentations and the main focus of the workshop will be on paper development for the Special Issue through roundtable presentations by authors, followed by discussions of authors' work led by at least one of the members of the AMLE editorial team. Throughout the intent is for authors to contribute to, and receive, actionable feedback that can then be incorporated into their papers. Please consult the call for papers for the Special Issue for further information on relevant topics and approaches.

As space is limited, preference will be given to participants who are presenting working papers that demonstrate good fit with the Special Issue theme and which show potential for development. Those who wish to have their paper reviewed and discussed should submit an extended abstract (between 5 and 10 pages of text) by Friday, February 8, 2019. Please note that participation at the workshop does not guarantee the inclusion of the paper in the Special Issue.

For a registration form go to:

Scroll down to AMLE and click on “Register” to be directed to the registration form. You can click on “Learn more” to see a version of this announcement. Before you submit your extended abstract please make sure that it is appropriate for AMLE by reading AMLE's Information for Contributors.

There is no fee for attending the workshop. Participants will be responsible for their own travel and accommodation costs.

We may have places available for students and scholars who wish to attend without submitting a working paper. In this instance, please submit your CV by the submission deadline (Friday, February 8, 2019). Such attendees will be accommodated if there is space on a first come, first served basis.

If you have any questions and inquiries, please contact: amle@aom.org.

If you have questions for the editorial team, then email the AMLE Editor, Bill Foster (wfoster@ualberta.ca); or the local host Alessia Contu (alessia.contu@umb.edu).
